

Modernizing CUPE 30

Bulletin #4

Modernizing our finances

A modern union cannot keep robbing its savings account to pay for its operations.

But that's what CUPE 30 has been doing for almost seven years.

Rather than face the difficult task of modernizing our dues and finances, we've chosen to raid our defence fund to pay for the day to day task of protecting and representing our members.

CUPE 30 Deficits

Since 2001, CUPE 30 has racked up some large deficits. These have taken a toll on our defence fund, which has been continually dipped into to cover costs.

Our employers are fighting us harder on every issue and every grievance – so expenses are increasing.

We need to modernize our finances so that we can cover our costs, build our defence fund, and continue to properly defend our members.

The motion coming forward to the next membership meeting will ensure our union is put on a proper financial footing for us to face the challenges of the future. Please support it.
